

1. This is what his Miraflex frames look like before I manipulate them.

2. I fold them first with arm pieces slightly lower than the center of the lens.

3. I pinch the joint on each side.

4. I bend the arm piece in at about where his ear is going to be.

5. This is what they look like right before I put them on his head. They don't fold his ears down this way. He leaves them alone.
